The Seven Crowns

Once upon a time, there lived a man and a woman. They had seven sons and a very sick baby girl. They asked the seven sons to go and get some water for the baby girl.

The seven sons dropped the water bucket into the river. It floated away. When they told the man what happened, he said, 'I wish you were all crows.' Suddenly, the seven sons turned into crows and flew away.

The baby girl got better and grew into a beautiful young lady. She went to find her brothers. She talked to the sun, the moon and the stars. 'Have you seen my seven brothers?' said the beautiful young lady.

She found her seven brothers' home and saw their dinner on the table. She drank a little juice from each cup and ate a little meat from each plate.

The seven crows came home and the spell was suddenly broken. Everyone lived happily ever after.
