Part 2

Narrator: The children take ballet lessons together. It is their first lesson.

Miss Chan: Welcome. I'm your teacher, Miss Chan. How long have you practiced ballet, children?

Macy: I'm new to ballet. So is my friend Eric, but Ada has learned it for a month already.

Miss Chan: I see. I have learned ballet for twelve years. Ballet is really graceful! OK. First, stretch your legs.

Eric: Can I try to stand on my toes? Ballet dancers usually do that!

Miss Chan: Please don't. You should only do that when your feet are strong enough.

Ada: Where is Tony?
[Tony comes into the ballet room in his sportswear.]

Tony: Sorry, I'm late.

Miss Chan: Why are you still in your sportswear?

Tony: I'm sorry. I'm afraid Mum got the wrong size. It's too tight for me.
[Everyone laughs.]
