Narrator : Edward is talking to his friend, Christina, about pets. Listen carefully and answer Questions 1-5. You have 30 seconds to study the questions. You may start now.

Listen carefully. The conversation will begin now.

- Edward : Hi Christina. I heard you've got a new kitten.
- Christina : You're right. I've got two! They're brother and sister and they're so cute. They're brown in colour with fluffy bodies. The girl has got white fur on her neck. I call the girl Kitty and the boy Bobby.
- Edward : So did you get them from a pet shop or the SPCA?
- Christina : Neither. But the kittens are rescue cats. There is a charity called Hong Kong Alley Cats. They help homeless cats and kittens find new homes. I saw an advertisement for Kitty and Bobby on their website. My parents said I could have them if I promised to look after them myself. I've made them a little bed from an old pillow and a cardboard box. They love it very much.
- Edward : You really take good care of them. By the way, is it expensive to look after them?
- Christina : Well, I need to buy cat litter for their plastic litter trays. Also, I need to buy them cat food and toys to keep them happy. I bought them some toy mice and a feather ball. They love their toys. They chase the toy mice all over the flat.
- Edward : Do they ever try to escape from your flat?
- Christina : Oh yes! We need to be very careful when we open and close the front door. We also need to keep the windows shut so they don't accidentally jump out. I used to have a rabbit called Floppy when I lived in Cheung Chau, but one day he got out of the garden and I never saw him again. So, I've become more careful with the kittens.
- Edward : I'm sorry to hear you've lost your rabbit. I have two frogs that are really small and I can hold them both in one hand. I have some photos of them on my phone – here, take a look.
- Christina : Oh! They're such tiny frogs. What are they called?
- Edward : Hoppy and Jumpy, because they love to jump around. They're really easy to take care of. I've already had them for 8 months and they're very healthy. I wanted a dog but my parents say that a dog is too much work.
- Christina : I think your parents are right. My uncle has three little dogs and he has to spend a lot of time looking after them. He walks them every day for an hour before work and then again in the evening. He sometimes takes them hiking at weekends too. I sometimes go with him and help walk them. I like the youngest one, Rocky, best. He's still a puppy. He always licks my hand when he sees me.
- Edward : I love puppies too. But I also like kittens. Can I come around to see yours after school?
- Christina : Sure, no problem!
- Narrator : Check your answers now.

Part 2

11 Narrator : Edward's English teacher is talking about a writing competition to the class. Listen carefully and answer Questions 6-10. You have 30 seconds to study the questions. You may start now.

Listen carefully. The speech will begin now.

Teacher : Good morning class, I have some exciting news for you. I'm happy to see all of you have improved a lot in English writing, so I want your class to take part in a writing competition. So listen carefully to the details of the competition. First of all, the title of the writing is 'The Bravest Person I Know'. The competition is organised by China Middle Bank. There will be a prize of $500 worth of book vouchers given to the winning student, who comes up with the best piece of writing. Also, you can help your favourite charity raise $15,000 by winning the competition.

Now, the piece of writing must be handed in by the 15th of April so you all need to start thinking about who you are going to write about, as we only have two weeks left. The result will be announced on the 30th of April. They are also going to publish the good ones in a book that will be on sale to raise money for a charity called 'Reach Out', which helps poor children in China. So even if you don't win, you can still help raise money for charity if your piece of writing is really good. But most importantly, it will be a valuable chance for everyone to practise writing in English. The piece of writing must be between 150 and 300 words long. You can include a photograph of the brave person if you have one, but it is not necessary to do so. The winner of the same competition last year was a girl from a primary school in West Kowloon, Susanna Fan, aged 8. Susanna wrote 250 words about the bravest person she knows – her grandma. Her grandma had cancer and was very sick in hospital. Even though she was in pain, she organised a party for the sick children at the hospital. She never complained but always thought about other people first. Let's see if the winner of this year will come from our school!

Lastly, I want you all to spend the next ten minutes thinking about someone you know who is brave. He or she maybe a member of your family, your friend or your neighbour. What did they do to show how brave they are? What do you think about that person? These are some of the things you should think about. OK, you can start planning now.

Narrator : Check your answers now.

Number Six. What will the winner of the writing competition get?

Number Seven. On which date might Edward's teacher talk to the class?

Number Eight. What did the teacher think the competition would give her class?

Number Nine. Which of the following is TRUE about Susanna?

Number Ten. Why was Susanna's grandma brave?

Part 3

12 Narrator : Edward is interviewing a woman in a queue at the cinema. Listen carefully and complete the survey form for Edward. You have 30 seconds to study the form. You may start now.

Listen carefully. The conversation will begin now.

Edward : Excuse me. May I ask you a few questions for a survey organised by Grandview Cinema?

Alice : Sure, if it'll only take a short time. I'm waiting to see a film and it'll be starting soon.

Edward : Thank you. It will only take two minutes. May I have your name please?

Alice : Alice Lee.

Edward : OK. Firstly, can I ask you which film you are queuing up to see?

Alice : I wanted to see Rule of the Robot but it doesn't start until 4 pm. So now I chose to watch The Hero's Task at 2:45 pm. I thought about watching Robbers on the Run but I don't like the actress of this film. Vampire Dusk at 3 pm is a great production but I'm afraid of watching a horror film by myself.

Edward : Right. My next question is 'how often do you visit the cinema?'

Alice : Well, I'm here this week and I went to the cinema two weeks ago with my brother, so I guess I go about once, no, about twice a month.

Edward : OK, thanks. Now, I want to know which days you prefer to go to the cinema.

Alice : Well, I usually don't go to the cinema on Thursdays, so today is special as I'm on holiday. Usually I would choose to go on Tuesday evenings with friends as it's cheaper then, and sometimes I go on Saturday afternoons with my brother. I can't go on Sundays as I go sailing and I'm out all day. Apart from Tuesdays, I often work late so that I won't go to the cinema on weekdays.

Edward : Thank you. Can I ask how you know about the film you are waiting to see? Did you read a movie review?

Alice : No, I saw a poster for it outside the cinema and decided to watch it. Usually I read movie reviews or hear about films from my friends and relatives, but today was different. I found that the time of the film fits me when I looked at the posters. So I decided to watch it.

Edward : I'll just tick that then. Now, um, what was the last film you saw here?

Alice : Let me see. Was it the last Harry Potter film? No, I think I saw one after that. Oh yes, I remember. I saw a kung fu film called The Long War. It was directed by Carson Leung. I really enjoyed the fighting scenes.

Edward : The Long War. I see. I saw that kung fu war movie too. It was really good. Now, I just have one more question. What snacks will you buy to eat during the movie?

Alice : Oh, I don't know. I hadn't thought about that yet. But I really love eating sweet things. What are the choices on your survey?

Edward : There're potato chips, popcorn, ice cream and hot dogs. Are you going to buy any of those snacks?

Alice : I just had hot dogs and potato chips at my friend's party last week. So I think I'll probably buy some ice cream and popcorn later.

Edward : Well, that's all. Thank you and enjoy your film.

Alice : Thanks, I will.

Narrator : This is the end of Section A. Please go on to Section B.

18. A

19. B 雖然癌症病人可以是老人或小孩，但是文中並沒有指明是哪一類型病人，因此答案是選項B。

25. D

26. B

27. C 學生需思考Anna對於整個旅程有甚麼感覺。Mr Lo被他人誤當成鬼，逗得小孩們哈哈大笑。Anna在末段表示希望Edward能夠和她參與這次露營，並相信他會感到很高興，所以Anna覺得這次露營是很有樂趣的(enjoyable)。

A Silly Thief

One night, a thief was standing outside a house. When the lights were switched off and the window was open, the thief climbed through the window into the house.

He tried to escape by riding his bicycle while carrying his heavy bag. Unfortunately, he fell over onto the path.

Finally, the owner of the house caught him and called the police. The police arrived and arrested the thief.
