A Funny Experience

Dear Jane,

How are you? Have you heard about the Ancient Egypt Exhibition at the Art Museum? Yesterday was a school holiday so I went with Tim. Something really funny happened. Let me tell you about it.

We went to the museum right after lunch. When we reached there, Tim wanted to go to the toilet so I went in first by myself. I wanted to see the exhibition so eagerly that I ran along the aisle to the exhibition hall. However, a guard stopped me so I slow down. Soon I saw a mummy with a helper next to it. I thought it was wonderful! As I took out my smartphone to take a photo of it, the helper stopped me because it was not allowed to do so.

Then, I wanted to look for Tim and looked around. Suddenly, a mummy appeared. It stared at me and walked towards me! I was terrified! The mummy laughed and took off the tissue from its face. I saw its face, it was Tim! We laughed and laughed! It was so funny! Guess what happened next? We were warned by the helper and the guard!

The exhibition was great! In the end, it took us three hours to see all the exhibits. Although we were tired, we were happy! You must go and visit the exhibition!

I hope we can meet up soon!

Yours,

Joan
