The Fat Princess

Princess Molly lived in a tall castle. A monster kept her there.

He watched her at the gates very often. Princess Molly had no ways to escape the tall castle. 'Aha! I should be thin somehow to fit out the window,' Molly thought. She remembered that the monster gave her food daily. He gave her a lot of fried food and just a few vegetables every day so that she became fatter and fatter. 'Tomorrow I'll change my habits. Then I'll be thin enough to escape,' she thought.

After that day, the monster kept giving her the same food but Molly didn't eat the fried food. She kept doing that every day. Nine months later, she became much thinner. 'Wow! I look great when I'm thinner!' Molly said. Now she was thin enough to get out of the window. She took a rope then she escaped! No one noticed it because the monster was sleeping when she left.

In the end, Princess Molly found her castle that she lived before. She learned that she should eat less fried food. What a smart girl!
