

The Fat Princess

Princess Molly lived in a tall castle. A monster kept her there. He watched the gates every day. He gave Molly a lot of French fries five days a week. She was too fat to escape from the castle.

She had an idea. She had to change habits. She needed to do exercise and eat healthy food like broccoli and tomatoes. One week later, she was very fit.

Then she had another idea. She cut the old dresses and made a long rope. One day, when the monster was sleeping, Molly put down the rope and got out of window. She could leave the castle because she was thin.

Molly was very happy. She learnt that she should eat healthy food every day. She should not eat junk food.
